

O'DONNELL IS BAILED.

Continued from First Page.

"Why, that's your breakfast," said the Warden.

"Is that all I get? At the other prison I was in Saturday they gave me eggs and a loaf of bread. That's a lot better than this breakfast!"

"Can't I get a little ham and eggs for my breakfast?"

"That is our regular fare and you will have to live on it."

Berkman inquired about the rest of the prison meals, and then remarked, "This is a great place to live," started on other subjects.

"I was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and was educated at the gymnasium, one of the leading colleges of that place. I speak perfect English," said he to the Warden, "as I have to talk from the Latin."

"What do the people say about my act?" said he.

"They say it was a most cowardly act and you have no sympathizers."

"Oh, yes I have," Berkman replied. "I know the people will be with me and I am sorry I made a bad job of it."

"Well, don't you know that if Mr. Frick dies you will be hanged, and if he lives you will have a long term in the penitentiary?"

"I know that," I looked the matter up, and am willing to stand the consequences, no matter what they are. What do the newspapers say about me?"

"They say you are a bun printer who only earned $5 per week," was the reply.

"Bun," was the reply. "I was a printer from the capitalist press. I was a job printer and I knew all about the business. In fact I always earned the highest salary. Some people seem to think I had some confederates, but that is a mistake. I did the whole thing myself and all credit belongs to me. The workmen of this country are with me in this affair."

"The young man then asked for a newspaper. He said he wanted to see what they said about him. It is probable the Warden will grant the request."

Father Griffin was at jail this morning, and said the gymnasium of St. Petersburg, the college Berkman referred to, was one of the best colleges in Russia. The man speaks four different languages. Warden McAleese says it is his opinion the man is not crazy.

JAMS TOO HEAVILY PUNISHED.

Feeling that Militia Discipline Was Overdone at Homestead.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—There is a general feeling that discipline was carried all too far for the militia, in the case of the Private Jams, of K. Company, Tenth Regiment, who was terribly punished and drummed out of camp on Saturday for calling for cheers for Mr. Frick's assassin.

Jams was first called before his regiment and had his buttons cut off; then he was taken to the guard tent and suspended by his thumbs until, after minutes of torture, his pulse reached 120 and surgeons ordered him cut down.

Before he was drummed out of camp half of Jams's head was shaved.

Jams was deprived of his uniform, given an old pair of overalls, a cheap blouse and an old cap. He was then taken down the railroad tracks to the depot, where he was taken to a rooming house.

Then, presenting a most pitiable spectacle, he was forced out of camp to get home the best way he could. Overcome by the treatment, he rushed wildly to the railroad, jumped in the box car of a freight train and disappeared.

In addition to the disgrace and mental and physical anguish he was compelled to endure, Jams's honorable discharge from the National Guards carries with it disqualification, and nothing but a special act of the Legislature can restore to him the right to vote.

It was said at Col. Hawkins's headquarters that Jams is a member of a prominent family in another county, but for about eighteen months he has been living in Pittsburgh, where his brother, Frank Jams, is a lawyer.

The orders in Jams's case were approved by Gen. Hays. Several of the proceedings have been criticized. An officer of the regiment said: "The hanging by the thumbs was barbarous; the shaving of the head unnecessary. A reprimand before the regiment and a drumming out of camp would have been ample punishment."

NON-UNION MEN COME OUT.

Blaming Weather and Confinement More Than They Could Stand.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—The locked-out event came as a result of the blazing weather of Sunday. Four of the non-union men shut up inside the mill enclosure could stand the virtual imprisonment no longer and made their escape into the town.

The Advisory Committee of the strikers took them in hand and reported that the claims to have had no idea that they were to be kept continuously away from all intercourse with the outside world, even taking meals and sleep inside the shops in which they worked.

According to the quartet the total number of men working in the mill, as reports to the strikers' committee are only 100.

All four of the men were from Philadelphia, one an engineer named John Kille, one whose name was withheld, the other two being James Elliott and James Harley. A rumor that thirty-two more of the non-unionists would break out today was current.

THE NOTICE TO NON-UNION MEN.

Hoped at the Carnegie Offices that It Will Break the Opposition.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—The official notice sent out from the Carnegie offices that no employees will be discharged to make room for others, and that all men will retain their places so long as they attend to their duties is expected to have an immediate and important effect on the situation in Homestead.

The company could not issue a more solemn pledge of its purpose to protect the new men in their position.

Among the locked-out workmen, one of the reasons for their hesitancy in returning to work is said to be the fear that if the Amalgamated Association wins the fight they will be made to suffer the vengeance of the successful union.

Secretary Lovejoy expects that the notification will cause a break in the solid ranks of the opposition upon its publication.

PITTSBURGH MILL GUARDED.

But Lovejoy Says the Homestead Fight Will Be Settled First.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—Approaches to the Thirty-third street mill of the Carnegie company were guarded this morning by a large detachment of police. It is now about settled that an effort will be made to put several hundred men in this mill as soon as they can be arranged for.

No strangers have yet arrived at the works.

TORTURING OF JAMS.

Military Men Comment on His Punishment at Homestead.

Thump-Striking and Head-Shaving Without Court-Martial Denounced.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—A full today of the most pronounced and open of the department indicates that they are in readiness for the workers. The furnaces are lighted, as they have been for the past few days.

The statement that the city mills of the Carnegie company were to start today is denied by Secretary Lovejoy, who stated that the company was in no hurry with these works. Mr. Lovejoy said: "The great thing is at Homestead, and to let us give our undivided attention, and when we win it the other matters will be easily settled."

A PRONOUNCED LULL.

Homestead Workmen Go to Mending Fences and Sidewalks.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—A full today of the most pronounced and open of the department indicates that they are in readiness for the workers. The furnaces are lighted, as they have been for the past few days.

The statement that the city mills of the Carnegie company were to start today is denied by Secretary Lovejoy, who stated that the company was in no hurry with these works. Mr. Lovejoy said: "The great thing is at Homestead, and to let us give our undivided attention, and when we win it the other matters will be easily settled."

The departure of a majority of the workmen for the greater part adopted a new course by remaining away from headquarters and devoting their attention to long-deferred repairs in sidewalks and fences at their homes.

Among the few to be found in public places there were practically only two topics, the punishment of Private Jams and expected return of Hugh O'Donnell. Generally any demonstration when O'Donnell arrived was deprecated, though a few hinted that a well arranged "spontaneous" display of their feelings was not altogether improbable.

The chances for a collision with the troops were, however, believed to be almost if not quite at zero.

MORE NON-UNION WORKERS.

A Fast Mail Train Brought on 200 of Them in Close Cars.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—The fast mail express No. 7, west bound, on the Pennsylvania road, does not carry passengers, but this morning there were two mysterious looking day coaches on the rear of the train. The blinds of the windows were drawn closely and the doors at both ends of the coaches were securely locked.

As the express neared the Swisshelm station, near the camp of the provincial brigade, the train came to a standstill. The day coaches were shifted to a siding in front of the station and then the train passed on to the city.

After the train had gone the doors of the cars were unlocked and a number of men came in, all alighted. It was observed that the men were dressed in civilian clothes, but the men were non-union workmen, bound for the Carnegie steel mills at Homestead.

The sunrise proved to be correct, as the entire body soon marched down the road towards the camp of the Fourteenth Regiment. The steamer Little Bill was moored at the landing, and the men were taken on board in waiting to carry the men over the river.

These men are from Philadelphia, New York and Boston and many are said to be skilled iron and steel workers.

CARNEGIE CAN'T BE REACHED.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling against Mr. Carnegie.

The St. James's Gazette today says that most people are anxious, now that the manager of the Carnegie Company has been disabled, to know whether Mr. Carnegie will consider the situation serious enough to warrant his return to Pittsburgh.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representatives was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles.

The resolution, which should Mr. Carnegie be expelled from the list of British workers by further public rebuffs offered in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

HE'S A LOW TARIFF REPUBLICAN.

Knute Nelson to Be Named for Governor of Minnesota.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 23.—Complete returns from all the counties of the State, with two exceptions, show that Knute Nelson, for two terms member of Congress from the Fifth District, is certain of the Republican nomination for Governor.

Mr. Nelson is a low tariff Republican, who, it will be remembered, voted for the Mills bill. The giving of the nomination to Nelson is the first move of the Republicans to win back the Scandinavian vote, many thousands of whom joined the People's party two years ago.

In a Surrogate's Contract Laborer? David Watson, a well known labor leader, is a Surrogate's contract laborer, as he is called in the English yesterday in charge of 100 cases from Glasgow, assigned to a Mr. Anderson, of Bowling Green, for breeding purposes.

Death Rate Jumping Up.

The death rate is jumping up again. Yesterday there were 170 deaths. For the twenty-four hours ending at noon today 100 deaths were recorded at the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Scrofula.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

Scrofula is a skin disease which attacks all over the body, swelling in the neck, and in less than a week it is induced by it. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common. It is the most dangerous of all skin diseases, and it is the most common.

TORTURING OF JAMS.

Military Men Comment on His Punishment at Homestead.

Thump-Striking and Head-Shaving Without Court-Martial Denounced.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—A full today of the most pronounced and open of the department indicates that they are in readiness for the workers. The furnaces are lighted, as they have been for the past few days.

The statement that the city mills of the Carnegie company were to start today is denied by Secretary Lovejoy, who stated that the company was in no hurry with these works. Mr. Lovejoy said: "The great thing is at Homestead, and to let us give our undivided attention, and when we win it the other matters will be easily settled."

The departure of a majority of the workmen for the greater part adopted a new course by remaining away from headquarters and devoting their attention to long-deferred repairs in sidewalks and fences at their homes.

Among the few to be found in public places there were practically only two topics, the punishment of Private Jams and expected return of Hugh O'Donnell. Generally any demonstration when O'Donnell arrived was deprecated, though a few hinted that a well arranged "spontaneous" display of their feelings was not altogether improbable.

The chances for a collision with the troops were, however, believed to be almost if not quite at zero.

As the express neared the Swisshelm station, near the camp of the provincial brigade, the train came to a standstill. The day coaches were shifted to a siding in front of the station and then the train passed on to the city.

After the train had gone the doors of the cars were unlocked and a number of men came in, all alighted. It was observed that the men were dressed in civilian clothes, but the men were non-union workmen, bound for the Carnegie steel mills at Homestead.

The sunrise proved to be correct, as the entire body soon marched down the road towards the camp of the Fourteenth Regiment. The steamer Little Bill was moored at the landing, and the men were taken on board in waiting to carry the men over the river.

These men are from Philadelphia, New York and Boston and many are said to be skilled iron and steel workers.

CARNEGIE CAN'T BE REACHED.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling against Mr. Carnegie.

The St. James's Gazette today says that most people are anxious, now that the manager of the Carnegie Company has been disabled, to know whether Mr. Carnegie will consider the situation serious enough to warrant his return to Pittsburgh.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representatives was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles.

The resolution, which should Mr. Carnegie be expelled from the list of British workers by further public rebuffs offered in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling against Mr. Carnegie.

The St. James's Gazette today says that most people are anxious, now that the manager of the Carnegie Company has been disabled, to know whether Mr. Carnegie will consider the situation serious enough to warrant his return to Pittsburgh.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representatives was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles.

The resolution, which should Mr. Carnegie be expelled from the list of British workers by further public rebuffs offered in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling against Mr. Carnegie.

The St. James's Gazette today says that most people are anxious, now that the manager of the Carnegie Company has been disabled, to know whether Mr. Carnegie will consider the situation serious enough to warrant his return to Pittsburgh.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representatives was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles.

The resolution, which should Mr. Carnegie be expelled from the list of British workers by further public rebuffs offered in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling against Mr. Carnegie.

The St. James's Gazette today says that most people are anxious, now that the manager of the Carnegie Company has been disabled, to know whether Mr. Carnegie will consider the situation serious enough to warrant his return to Pittsburgh.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representatives was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles.

The resolution, which should Mr. Carnegie be expelled from the list of British workers by further public rebuffs offered in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

He Stays Moody and Silent at His Lodge on Loch Rannoch.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

LONDON, July 23.—Upon receipt in this city Saturday afternoon of the news of the shooting of Mr. H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Frick.

This was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is enclosed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Rannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to him is thirty-five miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him, and has positively refused to receive any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead.

Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence towards all. The members of the American Legion here and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the strike at Homestead.

TORTURING OF JAMS.

Military Men Comment on His Punishment at Homestead.

Thump-Striking and Head-Shaving Without Court-Martial Denounced.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

HOMESTEAD, July 23.—A full today of the most pronounced and open of the department indicates that they are in readiness for the workers. The furnaces are lighted, as they have been for the past few days.

The statement that the city mills of the Carnegie company were to start today is denied by Secretary Lovejoy, who stated that the company was in no hurry with these works. Mr. Lovejoy said: "The great thing is at Homestead, and to let us give our undivided attention, and when we win it the other matters will be easily settled."

The departure of a majority of the workmen for the greater part adopted a new course by remaining away from headquarters and devoting their attention to long-deferred repairs in sidewalks and fences at their homes.

Among the few to be found in public places there were practically only two topics, the punishment of Private Jams and expected return of Hugh O'Donnell. Generally any demonstration when O'Donnell arrived was deprecated, though a few hinted that a well arranged "spontaneous" display of their feelings was not altogether improbable.

The chances for a collision with the troops were, however, believed to be almost if not quite at zero.

As the express neared the Swisshelm station, near the camp of the provincial brigade, the train came to a standstill. The day coaches were shifted to a siding in front of the station and then the train passed on to the city.

After the train had gone the doors of the cars were unlocked and a number of men came in, all alighted. It was observed that the men were dressed in civilian clothes, but the men were non-union workmen, bound for the Carnegie steel mills at Homestead.

The sunrise proved to be correct, as the entire body soon marched down the road towards the camp of the Fourteenth Regiment. The steamer Little Bill was moored at the landing, and the men were taken on board in waiting to carry the men over the river.

These men are from Philadelphia, New York and Boston and many are said to be skilled iron and steel workers.

CARNEGIE CAN'T BE REACHED.